ANTILOPE is a Thematics Network setup on core European National organisations supporting the adoption and testing of existing eHealth standards and specifications defining an eHealth interoperability framework.

Based on the results and recommendations in the Hitch project the network is set up to promote and drive adoption of testing guidelines as well as testing tools on a European and National level. The network will arrange a number of events and workshops across EU Member States.

The outcome will be a common approach for testing and certification of eHealth solutions and services in Europe.

Adoption and take up of standards and profiles for eHealth Interoperability

Objective

To develop documentation and educational materials in order to promote the dissemination, adoption, take up and testing of existing and recognized profiles and standards selected as part of the eHealth European Interoperability Framework (eEIF).

This will be achieved through the initial production of high quality documentation to be used in multi-stakeholder, multi-country workshops where experts, opinion leaders and decision makers will be confronted with that material and will be encouraged to implement the ANTILOPE actions in order to deploy eHealth interoperability. Issues and barriers will be recorded and solutions proposed.

Antilope-Thematic Network, organisation

Four workpackages are defined to provide guidelines, recommendations and frameworks based on a set of use cases, related profiles and standards, Interoperability Quality Management System, testing guidelines and Certification process. The scalability of the results from the preparation phase to the EIP on Active and Healthy Ageing is also considered. All the deliverables will be presented for validation and promotion by organizing workshops across Europe covering a region of countries based on proximity.

The consortium includes the required expertise by mixing a core group in charge of the production of the documentation, the expert partners bringing the specific expertise and the supportive validation partners in charge of the organization of the workshops for the dissemination of the Antilope recommendations among all stakeholders in their geographical area.

These beneficiaries represent standards (development) bodies, national or regional health authorities, competence centers and other directly relevant organizations.

More than 20 partners are directly involved to the deliverables including educational materials and organisation of the workshops.
